Early modern Europeans wore purses for one sole purpose: to carry coins. Purses were made of soft fabric or leather and were worn by men as often as ladies; the Scottish sporran is a survival of this custom. In the 17th century, young girls were taught embroidery as a necessary skill for marriage; this also helped them make very beautiful handbags. By the late 18th century, fashions in Europe ...

What you have described is an interesting variation on a hobo stove, but it is NOT a rocket stove. The "rocket" in rocket stove comes from the preheated air entering an insulated combustion chamber and chimney that allows for almost complete (very efficient) burning of the fuel and associated gasses which results in little to no soot on your cookware.
