Dialogic learning is learning that takes place through dialogue. It is typically the result of egalitarian dialogue; in other words, the consequence of a dialogue in which different people provide arguments based on validity claims and not on power claims.. The concept of dialogic learning is not a new one. Within the Western tradition, it is frequently linked to the Socratic dialogues.

1. Introduction. Dialogic teaching is a concept that is richly elaborated on the theoretical level, but teachers have found it difficult to put into practice (Reznitskaya & Gregory, 2013). This difficulty is an expression of the widely discussed gap between teaching theory and teaching practice (see, for example, Mercer & Howe, 2012). Professional development programmes offer one way to overcome ...
