The Goal of Macros. I think it's safe to say that the goal of macros in a language is to provide a way to modify elements of the language. That's what decorators do in Python -- they modify functions, and in the case of class decorators, entire classes. This is why they usually provide a simpler alternative to metaclasses.

Excel is the very popular file format created by Microsoft. Although it is not an opened file format, Java applications can still read and write Excel files using the Apache POI - the Java API for Microsoft Documents, because the development team uses reverse-engineering to understand the Excel file format. Hence the name POI stands for Poor Obfuscation Implementation.

Thanks for the responses. Apparently there are multiple ways of getting around an obstacle in the world of programming :D For now I guess I'll use constructors and assign speed = 10 for simplicity's sake, I don't really know how to use the public and private and the super() stuff. - user149135 Dec 18 '09 at 12:28
