Chabrier's Joyeuse Marche could have been written for the NYO, although its members would have to be 150 years old for this actually to be the case. It's only very brief but it packs a powerful punch and it's music that seems to smile all over its face. The young players, under their energetic conductor Chris George, captured all its bounce and rhythmic quirkiness to perfection, launching their ...

For Diane, who lives alone in western Massachusetts, everyone else comes first. Generous but with little patience for self-pity, she spends her days checking in on sick friends, volunteering at her local soup kitchen and trying valiantly to save her troubled, drug-addicted adult son (Jake Lacy) from himself.
