"In our everyday garden grow the rosemary, juniper, ferns and plane trees, perfectly tangible and visible. For these plants that have an illusory relationship with us, which in no way alters their existentiality, we are merely an event, an accident, and our presence, which seems so solid, laden with gravity, is to them no more than a momentary void in motion through the air.

A popular name for Beltane is May Day, and the central activity of May Day is dancing around the May Pole. According to James Tapper of The Guardian, maypole sales have skyrocketed this year, whereas the past few years fewer and fewer people partook in the ancient tradition. The Maypole dance consists of twelve to twenty-four dancers.

I began work on The Irish Origins of Civilization in 2005, and published both volumes of the book in November 2007. My researches into Ireland's role in world history commenced in 1981, after a preliminary study of ancient Irish mythology. As of this date (2018) few of my theories and assertions have been accepted by modern-day writers and researchers.
