Rodman Philbrick:

Sitting beside her in the car, I describe what I see from the window--hills and valleys and the rivers; cotton-fields and gardens in which strawberries, peaches, pears, melons, and vegetables are growing; herds of cows and horses feeding in broad meadows, and flocks of sheep on the hillside; the cities with their churches and schools, hotels and warehouses, and the occupations of the busy people.

I'm writing a Peter Pan retelling, and I wanted to go about the Native Americans in a significantly more sensitive way than the original, but I'm worried that I'm making too many POC antagonists. Both the main characters are white (Peter and Wendy). Tiger Lily is an enigmatic immortal queen who is somewhat of a villainous character (think morally dubious faerie queen type) while Hook ...
