The Writing Salon, founded in 1999, is a creative writing school for adults. We believe that creativity empowers, heals, and transforms; that a love for language and story binds people together as a community of independent voices; that the study of the craft of writing should be open to everyone; and that critique of our own and others' writing can be, at once, constructive and compassionate.

"You want to write, you need to keep an honest, unpublishable journal that nobody reads, nobody but you," Madeleine L'Engle counseled in her advice to aspiring writers. W.H. Auden once described his journal as "a discipline for [his] laziness and lack of observation.". Journaling, I believe, is a practice that teaches us better than any other the elusive art of solitude — how to be ...
