The Bride Wore Blue Brides

In Europe and North America, the typical attire for a bride is a formal dress and a veil. Usually, in the "white wedding" model, the bride's dress is bought specifically for the wedding, and is not in a style that could be worn for any subsequent events. Previously, until at least the middle of the 19th century, the bride generally wore her best dress, whatever color it was, or if the bride was ...

Bride - Wikipedia

A wedding dress or wedding/bridal gown is the clothing worn by a bride during a wedding ceremony. Color, style and ceremonial importance of the gown can depend on the religion and culture of the wedding participants. In Western cultures, brides often choose white wedding dress, which was made popular by Queen Victoria in the 19th century. In eastern cultures, brides often choose red to ...

There are certain details of every Southern wedding that are implemented into the ceremony because, well, they're traditional. Think: burying the bourbon, cake pulls, seersucker suits, groom's cakes, and second-line wedding parades. For as long as any of us can remember, the bride always did the following: wore white to the ceremony, sealed the deal with a kiss, cut the cake with her ...

I work in a bridal shop and over the last few years have had brides ask about bridal diapers. Most brides want to wear one as they are afraid of having an accident on their big day. They mostly ask about Depends or other disposable products. I tell them it is their preference as to what they want to wear. I have had a few brides come in for their gown fittings with a cloth diaper and plastic pants ...
